

The most anticipated hotel openings of 2024

As we enter February, the TPG team has already been on the road exploring the latest and greatest destinations. One of the key ways we determine where we want to go in 2024 is by evaluating the new hotels that will open in the coming months – and in a year when the hospitality industry will see hundreds of new properties open their doors across the globe, narrowing down our hit list is no easy task.

We're excited about hotly anticipated openings from major points chains like Hilton and Marriott, new hotels from luxury darlings like Four Seasons and Rosewood, and dozens of independent brands debuting new outposts and restoring and renovating existing properties. From family-friendly resorts near beloved theme parks to luxury overwater bungalows in far-flung paradises, we've got some incredible properties in store for you this year.

If you're not sure how to start when it comes to planning, that's where we come in. Our team of hotel experts has been hard at work determining which hotels we're most excited to check in to in 2024 – and to share with you – and we feel confident that there is something for every type of traveler in our curated list of 56 properties. Whether you're looking for a budget-conscious hotel where your points can save you cash, a splurge-worthy luxe getaway on the other side of the planet or a boutique property in one of your favorite cities, this list is chock-full of hotels worth planning an entire trip around.

As usual, we'll do our best to test and review these properties over the coming year, so stay tuned as our team checks in and out of these stunning hotels around the world in the coming months.

Without further ado, here is TPG's official list of the 56 most anticipated hotel openings of 2024. – By Ellie Nan Storck

New hotels opening in the US

You might not have to venture far to find some phenomenal new hotels debuting right here in the United States.

The Ranch Hudson Valley

Hudson Valley, New York

Expected opening: Spring 2024

Hudson Valley remains a hotbed of cool hotels, the newest being the second outpost from wellness brand The Ranch. The brand's debut property, The Ranch Malibu, captured the hearts (and shrunk the waistlines) of wellness-minded travelers – and we're sure the new East Coast retreat will do the same. Located in a historic estate with a striking Italian masonry stone facade, the 25-key property will offer three- and four-night stays that follow The Ranch's signature wellness programming, which includes hikes, plant-based meals, massages and the like.

Why we're excited: Aside from the allure of the "Brideshead Revisited" vibes exuded by this historic estate, we're looking forward to seeing the on-site solarium, which will boast 5,000 square feet and an indoor pool. — By Ellie Nan Storck