The 13 most anticipated new hotel openings for 2024

Travel is booming, and 2024 is set to be a significant year when it comes to new hotel openings across the United States. In fact, dozens of new properties are slated to debut all over the country in the coming months, from small boutique properties in major cities to expansive luxury resorts amidst the deserts and mountains and wellness-focused retreats. With this in mind, we've rounded up 13 of the most exciting hotel openings to watch for in 2024, including a historic inn slated to debut in New Orleans this winter and a swanky 20-acre property in Arizona, home to America's longest pool. So, if you haven't already, consider this your sign to start planning your 2024 trip—complete with a stay at one of the new hotels below, of course.

8. The Ranch Hudson Valley: Sloatsburg, NY

Opening: Spring 2024

This world-famous luxury health and wellness resort brand—best known for its flagship Malibu location, attracting A-listers like Mandy Moore, Rebel Wilson, Lea Michele and others—will open its first East Coast location in the spring of 2024. Just 45 minutes from New York City, the Ranch Hudson Valley will occupy a historic lakefront estate with 200 acres of land. Signature offerings include plant-based cuisine plus daily hours-long hikes, fitness classes and massages. Guests can choose from three-night, four-night, seven-night and multi-week programs.
